Crickets club's plans for a second ground

A SPORTS club with more than 130 members has revealed its plans to build a second ground in Haverhill.

DEBRA FOX

The town's cricket club, which has a base in Manor Road, has applied to Haverhill Town Council for grant funding to help with the project.

In an application sent to the council, the club has asked for £8,400 to assist with building the new facility in Calford Green.

It is thought that the project will cost around £40,000 in total.

On Tuesday, councillors on the leisure and community committee voted to defer the application to be discussed at full council next week.

Speaking at the meeting, Cllr Betty McLatchy expressed her support.

She said: "I think it makes a change from football to have something like this brought forward and I welcome the fact it goes to cricket instead for once."

According to the application, the land in Calford Green has been suggested to the club by the parent of a junior member.

It falls at the rear of their property.

The application said: "It is our intention to safeguard the future use of this facility by arranging a suitable licence with the owner of the freehold."

"The owner is also currently looking to arrange a change of use to meet the necessary requirements."

The club has eight senior teams, three junior teams and a youth section.

There are 46 players aged over 16, and 92 junior members. There are also more than a dozen social members, 40 service users and 15 volunteers at the club.

If granted, any money from Haverhill Town Council would go towards "phase one" of the project, which would be carried out in 2015 at an estimated total cost of £19,823.

According to the application, this would include installing four 9ft pitches and connecting and laying water pipes.

Completion is estimated for the start of the season in 2016.

Greg Street, Sunday 2nd XI Captain, said: "We think that this is a great opportunity for the club to build on its growth and success of recent years."

"It will provide the club with a vehicle to encourage more local youngsters to participate and give them the opportunity to keep fit."

The club also hopes to start a ladies team and get more women and girls playing cricket locally, while the new ground may also be used by school cricket teams.

Haverhill Town Council will hold its next full meeting on Tuesday from 7pm at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Father, 26, died after being hit by van, inquest told

COURT REPORTER

A YOUNG father died after being hit by a van on the way home from a Christmas party an inquest has heard.

Christopher Waters, 26, died on December 15 last year after suffering a skull fracture and other injuries
"consistent with a road traffic accident".

He had attended a Christmas party with work colleagues at the Shoulder of Mutton pub, near Sudbury, before he was fatally injured by a van on the A134 at Assington.

Dr Dan Sharpstone, assistant coroner for Suffolk, told the inquest that the van's driver thought he had hit something after his windscreen shattered and he heard a bang.

The driver stopped, but could not see anything. He called the police and then returned to the scene.

Mr Waters' body was found in a hedge by the roadside.

The accident happened after dark, and Mr Waters was dressed in dark clothing.

TRAGIC: Christopher Waters

Before the accident a witness had reported having to swerve to avoid a man dressed in dark clothing on the A134 at Assington, Dr Sharpstone said.

Police who examined the accident scene said it was possible that the 26-year-old, of Roman Way, Haverhill, may have stepped into a driveway to avoid two vehicles travelling ahead of the van, and then misjudged the situation by stepping into its path.

The van driver would not have been able to avoid impact, even if he had seen Mr Waters, Dr Sharpstone added.

Tests carried out also revealed that Mr Waters had more than two and a half times the legal drink-drive limit of alcohol in his blood at the time of his death.

The assistant coroner recorded a conclusion that Mr Waters died as a result of involvement in a road traffic accident.

After the inquest, which was held in Bury St Edmunds on Monday, his family paid tribute to a "wonderful son, brother and father" who they will "miss every day for the rest of their lives".

A statement from the family said:
"Chris was a hardworking young dad who was enjoying a rare afternoon off at his work Christmas party."

"Sadly he became involved in a terrible accident and we received the heartbreaking news that he had been killed."

The family also thanked everyone for their support over the "incredibly difficult year".

Will you vote for hospice charity?

A HOSPICE care charity with an outreach centre in Haverhill needs your vote.

St Nicholas Hospice Care is in the running to win £50,000 - and local residents are being urged to vote for the charity in a TV appeal next week.
ITV Anglia will feature footage of the hospice's Garden of Life project on Wednesday.

The project aims to transform outdoor space at the Burton Centre, on Camps Road, so it can be used by the whole community.

Voting opens at 9am on Wednesday, and the number will be published online at peoplesmillions.org.uk and stnicholashospicecare.org.uk

Event at shop

AN E-CIGARETTE shop is holding an event on Saturday.

Ecigwizard, on Haverhill's High Street, is holding a "vaping afternoon" between 4pm and 6pm.

All those interested in vaping are being invited to try out products.

The shop has new flavours available.

Officers get on their bikes thanks to donation from Real Bodies gym FOUR exercise bikes have been donated to Haverhill Police to keep officers in top shape.

The bikes, which were given to the force by Real Bodies Health and Fitness, are being used by staff to get prepared for annual fitness tests.

Inspector Peter Ferrie, policing commander for Haverhill, passed his most recent test around two weeks ago.

He said: "Real Bodies offered us four of the bikes to help us get through the national police fitness tests that have been introduced.

"We are lucky to have them and it's really good for officers at the station.

"Before or after their shift they can get on for half an hour and work off a few cakes – or doughnuts."

According to figures

from the College of Policing, all police officers need to pass the test with an endurance level of 5:4.

The gym, on Hollands Road, has recently got a set of new bikes, and had to dispose of the old ones.

They were given to the police free of charge.

Lee Button, manager at Real Bodies, said: "We try to do outreach things with local police and the fire brigade to get them into fitness, and I know they struggle to get time to leave the station.

"Hopefully this will get them using the bikes on the station to improve their fitness as a stepping stone and hopefully they will use the gym as well."

Other bikes were gifted to gym members and local personal trainers, Mr Button added.

Dates set for next year's HaverHalf and Haver10

KEEN runners can participate in both Haverhill's half marathon and 10k next year.

The popular races, organised by Jack Tappin, will return on two separate days in a bid to attract more competitors.

The Haver10, sponsored by Sanofi, will be held on April 12 at Haverhill Leisure Centre and HaverHalf, sponsored by Real Bodies Health and Fitness, will be held on October 25 at Castle Manor Academy.

In addition, a new 2k fun run, open to all ages, will be held before both races and Haver5, a 5k run, will be held before the town's half marathon.

Mr Tappin, race director, praised the "staggering" response to the inaugural races in May this year.

He said: "The community and business spirit has been great with so many people volunteering and being sponsors to help realise my vision of bringing premier athletics events to Haverhill."

This year's events raised more than £13,000 for St Nicholas Hospice Care. It is hoped £20,000 can be raised in 2015.

Budget savings survey: Your views are revealed

RESIDENTS' views on how savings could be made across the borough have been revealed.

Almost 1,000 people responded to a survey issued by the borough council, proposing possible ideas for the 2015/16 budget.

The questions focused on waste collection, how bus stations are run, housing and the use of volunteers. They were designed following focus groups held in Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds.

Cllr David Ray, cabinet member for resources, said the council has taken a different approach in looking at the new budget.

The authority has focused on the services they are legally obligated to provide, Cllr Ray said, and their three priorities as a starting point.

He said: "At the beginning of 2014 we approved our new strategic priorities which are economic development, housing and families and communities."

Around £1.5 million needs

to be saved in the coming financial year, as the borough's Revenue Support Grant from the Government has been reduced by a quarter, Cllr Ray said.

He added: "We have built the budget up from square one, rather than cutting it from last year's."

Sixty eight per cent of 988 respondents agreed that it would be okay for the council to charge £25 when a wheelie bin is lost or damaged by a resident and 78 per cent agreed that blue and brown bins could be collected on different days instead of at once.

This change to bin collections would save £150,000, according to council figures. Charging for bin replacement would save between £10,000 and £15,000.

Participants also expressed an interest in both towns providing farmers', craft and plant markets and more than 50 per cent agreed that the council should use more volunteers where it makes "financial and operational sense".

The public were also asked for their thoughts on the council borrowing money to build housing, and how "no strings attached" money, generated from development, should be spent.

Just over half of those taking part in the survey said that some should be spent on the area impacted by the development, and some should be redistributed in other communities.

Three thousand surveys were sent out at random across the borough, while others could take part online.

Consultation results will be reported to the Performance and Audit Scrutiny Committee next week.

They will make a recommendation to cabinet, which will be discussed by full council in December, before a budget decision is made in February.

Discussions over proposed bus shelter

FURTHER investigations are going to be made over a possible bus shelter on Millfields Way.

At the leisure and community meeting on Tuesday, town councillors discussed whether or not a shelter should be erected at the existing stop, which is opposite Quendon Place.

Some members expressed concerns over residents' feelings on the change, while others argued that the shelter should be put up.

The request for a shelter at the stop was reportedly made at the town council's open air surgeries earlier in the year.

At the meeting, Cllr Ernie Goody said: "The bus stops either side have actually got shelters.

"I don't remember many people, if anybody, using that bus stop – but the bus stop before is used quite well."

Cllr Goody proposed that people living near to the stop are asked whether or not they would mind having a shelter put up.

Cllr Betty McLatchy also said that the council should "look deeper" before making the decision.

Town mayor Cllr Roger André said: "This was raised at the open air surgeries and raised again on walkabouts.

"A shelter provides more than a place to wait from the rain, but provides a place to wait comfortably."

HEROES:

Pre-School

Children in Need tea.

Everyone was a superhero – for Pudsey!

DEBRA FOX

BATMAN, Spiderman and Superman could be spotted around Haverhill last week doing their bit for Children in Need.

Heroes big and small baked cakes, donated money and decorated biscuits all in the name of Pudsey bear on Friday.

Schools, businesses and families donned their spots and superhero capes to raise as much money as possible.

At Stepping Stones Pre-School, the children and staff paid £1 to wear spotty clothing and raised a collective £25.

Elaine McManus, manager, said: "We presented a book to Layla Skipp and Harvey Ledian for their imaginative spots."

Students at Samuel Ward Academy enjoyed a snuggly celebration in their favourite onesies, as they sold cakes and voted in "soak a teacher".

The school also took part in a fashion show, a sponsored silence, and a further vote for a special song to be played over the tannoy took place.

The day of fun has raised more than £1,500 so far.

Pudsey masks and a giant Pudsey painting were created at the town's Happy Faces Pre-School, where little ones raised more than £130.

Parents joined in with the charity fun, and enjoyed a tea party, dancing and biscuit-decorating.

CAKE: Courtney Hayward, Ellie Venables and Vicky Martin of Samuel Ward.

Cllr Roger André, mayor of Haverhill, attended the event.

He said: "It was a delight to see all the children enjoying helping others."

Iron Man himself made a special trip to Little Wonders Parkway Pre-School to meet his fellow heroes, who were working hard with fundraising.

The children raised between £30 and £40 with their inventive costumes, and donations are still coming in from parents.

Kedington Primary Academy also took part, while pupils and parents of Westfield Primary Academy lined a drawing of Pudsey with their spare change.

More than £1,200 has been raised by directors at Abbeycroft Leisure and Anglia Community Leisure who took part in an Apprentice-style competition for the charity.

The four participants put their business skills to the test while working in the areas of leisure centres they manage.

Sarah Howard, president of Suffolk Chamber of Commerce, decided on the winner, based on performance, strategy and how much was raised.

Lynda Pope, finance director, worked in the reception area, Simon Ginders-Coxshall, operations director, worked in the cafe at Newmarket Leisure Centre, Warren Smyth, chief executive, worked on Haverhill Leisure Centre's reception and Alison Blackwell, development director, manned the cafe.

Lynda was crowned the winner after raising £587.10 through a raffle.

Pick up the phone and vote for the hospice!

ST Nicholas Hospice Care is calling for people to pick up the telephone and vote for it to win £50,000 on Wednesday, November 26.

The Hospice has been shortlisted to battle for £50,000 of lottery money in ITV's People's Millions competition.

On Wednesday, ITV Anglia will feature the Hospice's Garden of Life project and viewers will be asked to vote by phone if they want it to win the £50,000.

The Garden of Life is a project to transform outdoor space at its Burton Centre outreach centre, in Haverhill, into a pleasant, landscaped area for use by the whole community.

The Garden of Life would provide a much-needed outdoor space that could not only be used by the community groups already using the Burton Centre – such as Brownies, Guides and the Haverhill Gateway Club – but be regularly utilised by patients and their carers as a place for peaceful reflection. The garden would be open to the whole community, given it is connected to the Burton Centre's Haven Café and the town's library is also in the same building.

Once The Garden of Life is established, the Hospice intends to run a gardening group for bereavement support; use it for open days, fundraising events and to raise awareness of the work of the hospice; run a day therapy activity programme to include gardening activities and working outdoors; and hold occasional acoustic music events to encourage people who might not otherwise go to the Burton Centre to visit.

Voting opens at 9am on Wednesday. The telephone number will be published in The Mirror newspaper and on the People's Millions and Hospice websites. Each vote costs 15p with a maximum of 10 votes per person.

For more information, go to www.peoplesmillions.org.uk/ or www.stnicholashospicecare.org.uk

AN EXCITING quiz night has raised more than £270 for a local group.

The Haverhill and District Twin Towns Association held their event on November 2 at Kedington Community Centre.

More than 90 guests, plus two quiz masters, attended and helped to raise the money.

Elaine McManus, of the association, said: "On behalf of the committee I would like to thank everyone for all your fantastic support for this event, with special thanks to mayor and mayor-elect of Haverhill."

Many people also donated raffle prizes, with the raffle raising £160 alone.

TOP OF THE TABLE: The quiz night held by Haverhill and District Twin Towns Association.

Review of Haverhill Silver Band's Strictly Brass, by Carol and Allan Charlwood.

A NEAR full house was treated to a superb evening's entertainment of varied music by the very fine Haverhill Silver Band.

Director Mark Ager welcomed star guest, trombonist Pete Beachill, who had hot footed it from the Strictly Come Dancing orchestra in Blackpool the previous evening.

The first half saw the band demonstrate their ability at different styles of music from light to swing & jazz, to classical, including a very beautiful arrangement of Abide with Me.

Pete Beachill gave us some insight into the goings on at Strictly and made the very important point that live music is somewhat a rare occurrence especially on TV, and we should all strive to keep it alive.

In the second half we had a similar mix of music, including a very fine piece written specifically for brass band. I am sure everyone went home happy having really enjoyed the whole evening.

Work under way on improvements to churchyard

DEBRA FOX

WORK is underway to revitalise St Mary's churchyard in Haverhill.

The transformation project aims to make the area a "pleasant open space" for shoppers, visitors and residents.

The idea came from Haverhill in Bloom and work is being funded and managed by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

So far, some of the church's older gravestones have been recovered from the undergrowth, cleaned and re-erected along the back and side walls of the yard.

Planting will take place in the new year, and overgrown vegetation will soon be removed.

Other works planned for the project include the installation of new lights along the path, and pictures depicting the history of Haverhill.

Created by primary pupils from the town's schools, the PROJECT: Work is under way to transform the churchyard at St Mary the Virgin Church in Haverhill images represent scenes captured on film and stored by Haverhill History Society in its archives.

Scenes date as far back as 1862, and others include the erection of the town's Spirit of Enterprise roundabout, and the arrival of the Olympic torch in 2012.

They will be mounted in window alcoves on the churchyard's back wall and brighten up the area.

Planning permission for the project was granted earlier this year. It is also supported by grants from Haverhill Town Council, ONE Haverhill and Haverhill in Bloom.

It is hoped that the project will improve the church's outdoor area for weddings.

The project will officially be launched tomorrow between 10am and 2pm.

Artwork will be on display and background information will also be available. All are welcome to attend.

Look what's eating my lunch!

WHAT would you do if a dinosaur pinched your packed lunch?

Pupils at Clements Primary School in Haverhill have arrived at school every day so far this month to find that velociraptors, triceratops and even a tyrannosaurus rex have been causing havoc in their classrooms.

The school is celebrating "Dinover" for the whole of this month –
with teachers setting the toy dinosaurs up for mischief each day.

This week, one unlucky pupil found the prehistoric animal sneaking a taste from their lunchbox.

The dinos have also been caught wrapped in toilet paper, and diving into lego.

Caroline
Zwierchowska-Dod,
headteacher, said:
"We love to make learning fun, so we were very pleased to find out that our dinosaurs had joined in with Dinover."

Town unites on loan sharks

A CAMPAIGN to clamp down on loan sharks is being launched in Haverhill.

Next week, The England
Illegal Lending Money Team will reveal a new initiative aimed at raising awareness of the illegal service, and the dangers of using it.

The scheme is in partnership with Haverhill Town Council, Haverhill Citizen's Advice Bureau, Haverbury
Housing Partnership, Suffolk County Council Trading Standards and Suffolk Police.

It is also supported by REACH Community Projects and the town's credit union.

Cllr Roger André, town mayor, said: "All partners are delighted to support this initiative to raise awareness of the perils of loan sharks."

"They lurk silently below the public radar and we aim to promote credit unions like Eastern Savings and Loans as

DEBRA FOX

a safe legal alternative way to borrow money."

The week-long campaign will highlight how loan sharks operate.

Partners will also be raising awareness in schools and visiting residents' homes.

Residents will also be encouraged to use Eastern Savings and Loans, which opened earlier this year and operates from the Haverbury offices on Haverhill High Street.

Cllr Colin Spence, Suffolk County Council cabinet member for public protection, said: "It is important to remember the very real dangers loan sharks pose to our communities."

"A moment of debt relief can quickly turn into a lifetime of financial misery and distress."

"Loan sharks never have your best interests at heart so I would strongly urge anyone considering using them to avoid them at all costs."

An official launch is taking place on Monday at Haverhill Arts Centre, where a charter pledging zero tolerance to illegal lending will be signed.
A public drop-in session is being held on November 28 at the town's market.

Members of the public are being invited to attend the still between 8am and 4pm.

According to figures, 310,000
households across the country are indebted to loan sharks.

Town celebrates mayor's Civic Service

HAVERHILL'S town mayor has celebrated his civic service.

The event was held at the Haverhill Methodist Church,
on Camps Road, on Sunday.

Cllr Rogre André, town mayor, and wife Pauline attended the service which helped to raise funds for

Haverhill's St John
Ambulance, the Air Training Corps 1451 Squadron and the Haverhill Scouts and Guides headquarters fund.

Cllr André said: "It's great so many distinguished guests could join us from across the county and neighbouring counties."

"We are proud to celebrate service to our community by so many and to see so many young people participate."

Nigel Bishop, minister for Haverhill Methodist Church, conducted the service, which celebrates work within the local community.

School gets green with composter

CARING primary school pupils will be turning food waste into compost as part of their eco pledge.

Kedington Primary Academy, on the village's Church Walk, has recently purchased a composter and will begin using it in the coming weeks.

The school has had green flag status for four years.

Darren Woodward, headteacher, said: "We have done projects in the past looking at how much food waste we have had through school dinners and we have encouraged children to eat more of their dinner, and throw away less waste."

Supervised by staff, some of the school's elder pupils will be responsible for filling the composter, and adding the wood pellet to it, each day.

It is expected that the first load of compost in a few months.

Mr Woodward said: "It should create compost for our gardens and green house, but if there's enough we would like to bag it up and sell it to the local community."

He added: "The children are very excited."

The school already has an eco-friendly boiler, a wildlife area, a polytunnel and natures piles.

Headteacher angry over dog poo 'protest'

A HEADTEACHER has condemned a "dirty protest" that saw dozens of bags of dog poo dumped in the open on playing fields popular with children.

Caroline Zwierzchowska-Dod, of Clements Primary School, said she was appalled by the actions of some dog walkers in Haverhill, saying the excrement left on fields near to the school posed a serious threat to children, including causing blindness.

The mucky bags were dumped by a post that used to be the site of a poo bin near to the exit of Clements playing field.

But the borough council said the bin was moved to a side road entrance nearby so more people could use it – and criticised the "hardcore" who continued to leave faeces at the old site.

Haverhill's dog poo issue has been hitting the headlines in recent weeks and the borough council has been criticised for not installing enough bins.

Ms Zwierzchowska-Dod said the fields are regularly used by children.

She said: "I am shocked that dog owners would deliberately leave dog poo on the ground, either bagged or unbagged, instead of putting it in a bin or taking it home."

"Dog faeces is a recognised hazard, especially to young children as their immune systems are not fully developed. It can carry toxocarasis which can result in blindness."

"If dog owners think there should be more bins they should write to the council – a 'dirty protest' is putting our children at risk and is extremely irresponsible."

GARETH MCPHERSON

Ms Zwierzchowska-Dod, a dog owner herself, suggested buying scented nappy bags instead of dog poo ones, which are "much less smelly if you have to carry it home to put in your own bin".

A reader sent a picture to the Weekly News of the mound of dog poo bags by the footpath sign, which carries a warning that dog walkers must clean up after their pets.

The reader, who is unhappy at bin provision in Haverhill, said: "As you can clearly see some people have made the effort to clear up after their dogs, but what's the point of having a sign without a bin?"

A spokeswoman at St Edmundsbury Borough Council said there are four dog bins on the site.

She said: "One bin was moved from this post to the side road entrance, so that it could be shared with people coming and going."

"Signs were put up to explain the move to bin users, and an extra dog bin installed at another entrance, but regrettably, a hardcore of people still deposit their bags here."

"We will put up another sign to explain bin locations again, and in the meantime, monitor the site while the message is taken on board."

Exciting workshops at library next week

CREATIVE workshops are taking place next week at Haverhill Library.

Author James Campbell and illustrator Mark Weighton will take part in four sessions aimed at inspiring reading, creative writing and drawing.

A grant of £250 has been donated to help run the workshops by Cllr Tim Marks, borough councillor for Haverhill North.

The money is from the councillor's locality budget. He said: "Reading and writing stories, or drawing, ought not only be encouraged among children, it should also be fun."

"Mankind has been telling stories since history began." Sanphra Willmott, library manager, thanked Cllr Marks for his support and hailed the workshops as a way to inspire a love of creativity.

The sessions are running on November 27. Three are specifically reserved for schools, and the fourth is open to the public.

Free of charge, it will start at 3.30pm and run for one hour. It is suitable for children aged 6 or over, call 01440 702638 to book a place.

Haverhill Town and Suffolk County councils have also supported the sessions.

Guides visit the palace to sew with a countess

DEBRA FOX

A GIRL Guiding group has made a royal visit in its fight against Type 1 diabetes.

Steeple Bumpstead Guides visited Buckingham Palace last week, armed with a quilt designed in the name of charity.

Along with the Countess of Wessex, the young women completed the special quilt, which was created by guides nationwide as part of the Sensational Sew 1 Challenge for Type 1 diabetes.

Inspired by Romford Girlguiding member Juliet Flynn, 16, who has the condition, the quilt is made from individual squares.

Alongside their sewing, guiding groups have raised £2,000 for JDRF – a charity for the condition, for which Juliet is a young ambassador – through their own fundraisers.

Maicie Porter, 11, attends Steeple Bumpstead Guides and made the trip on November 13.

She said: "It was really exciting to go to the Palace, it's something I've never done before – and a privilege to present the Countess of Wessex with a cushion made from the quilt squares we were unable to use."

The village's group raised the most money out of participating groups and were invited to attend

TEAM WORK: The Countess of Wessex with the Guides and the quilt

the palace and finish the quilt alongside the Countess, who is the Girlguiding president.

Gill Slowcombe, chief guide, said: "Guide groups across the UK should be proud of themselves for choosing to take on the Sensational Sew 1 Challenge.

"They have raised awareness and funds for an important charity for young people, the JDRF.

"Girlguiding members have a proud history of social action and stepping up to help other people – long may it continue."

The quilt will be auctioned off this month by the charity, and all money raised will go to JDRF.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Take a look at your intake

SUFFOLK residents are being urged to keep an eye on what they drink.

Suffolk Health Professionals have launched a new campaign this week for drinkers to count units and calories in the alcohol they consume.

A report to coincide with Alcohol Awareness Week, which launched on Monday, revealed that 20 per cent of the county's residents are drinking too much.

Alcohol was also responsible for 266 deaths in 2012 and nearly 114,000 hospital admissions in the area.

Road safety awareness week

A NATIONAL campaign calling on road users to be considerate is under way.

Brake Road Safety Week asks drivers to take extra time at junctions and take it slow on bends.

Meanwhile, cyclists and pedestrians are being reminded to be safe and be seen.

Officers from both Suffolk and Norfolk will be carrying out roadside checks this week in line with the initiative.

Time for school's winter fair

A PRIMARY school is getting ready for Christmas with a fair on Friday.

Clements Primary School's winter fair is running from 5pm until 7pm.

There will be cakes for sale as well as a raffle and tombola, and a number of games.

All money raised will go towards the school, and it is hoped it will buy new play equipment for the children.

Shopping for the cause

A SPECIAL shopping night held at Haverhill Arts Centre last week raised £1,500 for Pancreatic Cancer Research Fund.

Why do we love Christmas adverts?

EMILY BURTON explores why advertisements at this time of year can pack such an emotional wallop, and why they are a recognised and welcomed part of the festive season

YOU may have noticed that the highly-anticipated John Lewis Christmas advert – which has become something of an annual festive tradition – has hit our TV screens.

First, there was the little boy who just wanted to give his mum and dad their Christmas present (bless). Then there was the Bear and Hare and Lily Allen singing sweetly about “somewhere only we know” in the animated woods (aww). Then it was that Snowman who had to travel along the motorway to buy his snow-wife a red scarf (hope he kept the receipt) and now there's a boy and his best friend Monty the Penguin. What is it about Christmas advertising that gets us all loved up?

John Lewis typically start planning their Christmas advert in April when the lambs are lambing and the daffodils are in bloom. As you might imagine, a lot of thought goes into the storyboard, the music and the artists as Charlotte Cardall, section manager in visual merchandising for John Lewis in Cambridge, tells us: “The ads are very well thought out and every element is carefully considered.

“The aim is always to tell a meaningful story that our customers can connect to and there's usually humour as well as emotion. That's what makes it feel personal for the audience. It's not about the commercial aspects of Christmas, but about making a personal and emotional connection to the meaning of Christmas.”

Shelby Haslam, head of PR and planning at Cambridge creative agency Ware Anthony Rust, says: “A lot of the retailers' Christmas adverts don't even show any products which is incredibly brave. John Lewis, for example, are not actually trying to sell us anything other than Christmas itself. The most powerful form of advertising is that which creates an emotional response.

“People see the John Lewis advert and say, ‘That's the sort of Christmas I want. John Lewis understands me and therefore I will shop there’. The ads play on the universal emotions of friendship and love, and also using cute children and animals is always a pretty safe bet.”

what's on JobsNow Property Weekend

Staff at John Lewis are very proud of their appointed status in the Christmas advert ranks. Charlotte says: "It's an incredibly big deal for partners. We get to see the advert just before the customers do so this year's one was actually launched to partners at 8am on a Thursday morning in the toy department. There was a lot of laughter and a few tears!"

"Partners take great pride in the Christmas ad, feeling that it reflects what an imaginative and creative company we work for. There's a great deal of anticipation when we know the ad is about to launch."

So are they pleased with this year's advert? Charlotte says: "Funny and touching moments are always remembered and talked about. My favourite moments are when the little boy holds out a fish finger and Monty jumps up from behind the table to take it. Also, the expression on Monty's face when he sees Mabel emerging from the Christmas wrapping paper."

"It's lovely, and the message is lovely. The little boy is alert to his penguin's feelings and wants to make him feel better. He's showing sensitivity, consideration and thoughtfulness, something I'm sure all of us would like to be on the receiving end of."

Aside from all the laughter and tears, there is a serious side to all this. Shelby says: "Christmas is an absolutely crucial economic time for retailers and from January to November they largely battle it out on price, but Christmas is one opportunity they have to raise their heads above the battlements and do something beautiful and evocative. Buying a Christmas present is more of an emotional activity than most of your other shopping throughout the year so it's the right time to use an emotional hook to pull people into stores. A place like John Lewis will always put a massive amount of sales through over the next six weeks so they've got to get the advertising right."

"The key to Christmas advertising is making it as simple as possible and evoking an emotion that everybody can connect with. No matter who you are or what your age is, you want to give a Christmas present and see the person's face light up. That's what everybody wants."

landmark holiday pay case

*Claire Sleep,
an Employment Solicitor at Ashton KCJ, offers some practical advice.*

It was decided on 4 November 2014 that holiday pay should include overtime in addition to an employee's basic rate of pay. Workers are entitled to four weeks' holiday pay a year under EU law but there are no details on how it should be calculated. Up until now, holiday pay has been paid at an employee's basic rate of pay, which means any additional payments for regular overtime have not been included.

The government estimates that one-sixth of the 30.8 million people currently in work get paid overtime. Therefore this decision affects a large number of people in the UK and employers could face large additional payments to be made in respect of holiday pay. It has been commented that this could be devastating for small businesses in terms of payroll costs which could in turn mean that costs need to be saved in another ways including ultimately job losses. Industry sectors where overtime or commission-based remuneration are common, or unionised workforces, are particularly at risk. This could include the retail, IT and manufacturing sectors.

Employers will now need to decide how to deal with this issue in terms of what payment should be made going forward for holiday pay. This is something that it is sensible to deal with now as well as keeping a careful eye on developments in this area. Business Secretary Vince Cable has announced the setting up of a taskforce to assess the impact of this case and to provide a forum to discuss how the impact on business can be limited.

If you would like to discuss the impact of this case on your business, please contact our employment team on 01223 633507.

GOING BACK IN TIME: Tommy, Fenella, Emily, Grace and Charlie of Castle Camps Primary School.

Wartime arrives at school

PRIMARY school pupils have taken part in the season of remembrance.

Castle Camps Primary School brought the wartime spirit into their classroom and learned about the experiences of children during the Second World War.

The children visited the Imperial War Museum at Duxford, studied the Battle of Britain exhibition and took part in a wooden aeroplane-building workshop.

Dressed in wartime clothing, pupils and staff enjoyed a typical packed lunch of the period.

Following on from the visit, children tried out Second World War recipes, built an Anderson Shelter and created ceramic poppies at school.

Jayne Wright, teacher and history subject leader, said: "It has been a wonderful experience for all the children and given everyone a clear insight into what life was like for a wartime child."

Council enjoys slice of success at apple awards

SUFFOLK County Council took a bite of the Green Apple last week at a national awards ceremony.

The council beat 500 other nominations to win first prize in the "Energy Reduction" section of the Green Apple awards at the House of Commons.

The council won the award for SABRE, a project offering small and medium businesses the opportunity to "discover their potential to generate renewable energy".

NATALIE ROBINSON

The project has supported 120 businesses and enterprises in the county over the last three years.

Cllr Rebecca Hopfensperger, cabinet member for localities, environment and waste, said: "This is a real vindication of the approach we took, supporting SMEs in Suffolk to maximise the financial benefits from installing renewable energy technologies."

"We are proud to support the Local Enterprise Partnership to increase economic growth across Suffolk and projects such as this highlight our commitment to that priority."

The Green Apple awards, supported by the Environment Agency, the Chartered Institute for Environmental Health, and the Chartered Institute for Waste Management, recognises the "best practice" of environmental groups.

West Suffolk to hold first health forum event

HEALTH service members will be meeting with councillors to highlight key issues in health and wellbeing across West Suffolk.

The West Suffolk Health and Wellbeing Forum will be held for the first time this evening at Forest Heath District Council (FHDC).

Live Well Suffolk will attend and outline the role of a new community health coach for the area.

The meetings will see FHDC work with St Edmundsbury Borough Council to improve services.

Cllr Sara Mildmay-White, St Edmundsbury cabinet member for health and communities, said: "I am delighted that St Edmundsbury and Forest Heath are working together to host this forum and look forward to hearing about some of the innovative and exciting work that is already underway."

The meeting will be held at the FHDC offices in Mildenhall from 6pm.

PAMPERING: Launch of a new support group for those with diabetes, MS and cancer at Hundon Village Hall.

Butterflies offers heavenly holistic therapies

PEOPLE living with cancer were pampered by masseurs and therapists.

The support group, which was launched by the Butterflies charity in Hundon Village Hall this month, offers massively cut-price treatments for those affected by cancer, diabetes, MS and strokes.

The therapists and counsellors are working for free and money raised will go to the charity.

Linda Clayden set up the charity in memory of her mother Frances Holt, a chiropractor and healer who died two years from a stroke. She spent much of her time giving her time for free to charities.

The support groups welcome everyone who is or has been affected by those conditions.

Linda added: "We also welcome all family and friends who help and care for them to have a treatment too as they are very important."

"Our aim is to bring relaxation, peace and for people to chat to those who can help and to make people aware how holistic therapies can be beneficial working side by side with doctors and hospital help."

The next sessions are being held on December 8, January 5 and February 2.

Therapy sessions costs £5 and includes reflexology, Reiki healing, crystal healing, reflexology, counselling and Indian head massage. Tea and cakes are free. Call Linda on 01440 786363 for details.

Men in court after family conned out of £7,000

SIX men have admitted tricking victims – including a Steeple Bumpstead family – out of thousands of pounds by posing as policemen in telephone frauds.

The group of men were charged at St Albans Crown Court with conspiracy to defraud by false representation in a series of 10 crimes across East Anglia between March and July this year.

On March 30, a Steeple Bumpstead family was tricked out of £7,000 as a result of the telephone fraud.

The Eastern Regional Special Operations Unit (ERSOU) set up a special task force to investigate the rapidly-spreading frauds by thieves posing as police or bank officials in March.

Elderly or vulnerable people were targeted by criminals who posed as police officers or bank staff and told their victims that their bank accounts had been infiltrated by thieves.

ELEANOR BUSBY

@EleanorBusbyCN

The tricksters claimed that as part of their investigations they needed to do forensic tests on the victim's bank cards and PIN numbers or needed large amounts of cash to be used for forensic tests.

Mohammed Miah, 22, Mohammed Hussain, 22, Motahir Rahman, 23, Mohammed Ahmed, 22 and Dedar Ali 20, all admitted conspiracy to defraud between March and July 2014.

In early March, a woman in her 70s from Saffron Walden was tricked out of £5,000.

Another man in his 70s in the Steeple Bumpstead area handed over £10,000.

Sentencing will take place on December 4.

Butcher takes pride in selling the best meat, locally sourced

ADVERTISEMENT FEATURE

NOW in his fifth year at the helm, Paul Morris is continuing to provide the best, freshest locally-sourced produce at Kedington Butchers.

Since he took over the reins of the business (having originally been a keen customer), the shop – which has been at the heart of village life in Kedington for more than 40 years – has gone from strength to strength.

Paul prides himself on the high quality of their produce. As he explains: “Everything we buy is locally sourced”. And that includes the seasonal Saltmarsh lamb (available up until March), excellent Suffolk chicken, and Dingley Dell pork. All of the shop’s sausages are home made on the premises, as are the tasty burgers, made from 100 per cent chuck steak beef, which is again – of course – all from local herds.

With Christmas on its way, it’s never too soon to start thinking about what, for many of us, is the most special meal of the year. Pop in to Kedington Butchers to reserve your turkey, provided from a flock just two miles away, in Sturmer.

Paul advises that you order “sooner rather than later”, though. The books shut the week before Christmas, but if you want to be sure of your big bird on the big day, order now!

And with free delivery in Haverhill and the surrounding areas, including delivery of all Christmas orders on December 23 and 24 (just in time for the main event), this is definitely the most convenient way to shop.

So for delicious, fresh, top quality meats, make sure you visit this wonderful local resource, to ensure a table laden with tasty festive treats for Christmas – or all year round!

Friendly garage offers high quality service

ADVERTISEMENT FEATURE

If your vehicle is coming up for its MOT test, or needs to be repaired, or even for a winter check, then the independent garage Linton Village Motors is for you.

The garage, based in Abington, at Bourne Bridge, provides a polite and friendly service to its customers in the local community.

As a smaller business, the members of staff have more time to talk to customers directly, helping to explain what the issue may be with their vehicle. This is particularly popular with lady drivers.

Richard Stock, the managing director of the garage, set up the business 19 years ago, after working as an automotive engineer and inspector with the Automobile Association (AA) for 26 years.

On top of service, repairs and MOT testing six days a week, the garage also provides courtesy cars for its customers and offers free collection and delivery from surrounding villages.

Brand new cars can also be serviced and repaired at the garage without affecting the manufacturer's warranty: another plus.

Linton Village Motors, which is part of the 'Trust My Garage' scheme (and has passed all quality tests with flying colours) is a dependable business that you can trust.

All the garages in the scheme are members of the Independent Garage Association (IGA), part of the RMI – one of Britain's oldest motor trade organisations.

IGA members are true professionals – complying with a strict code of practice. By using a member of the scheme, such as Linton Village Motors, you can be reassured you are using a nationally-recognised brand.

All automotive engineers working at Linton Village Motors are committed to providing an honest, cost-effective and high quality service to the customer.

Based opposite Granta Park Science Park, it is perfectly located for professionals who need to have a quick service while at work.

Now is the time to get your winter checks and service booked in, so why not give Linton Village Motors a call on (01223) 830550.

David Mitchell

■ David Mitchell, Ely Cathedral, Tuesday, November 25, at 7.45pm. Tickets £10 from (01353) 645005 / toppingbooks.co.uk.

■ David Mitchell: Thinking About It Only Makes It Worse is out now from Faber & Faber.

DAVID Mitchell, the man behind That Mitchell and Webb Look and the always excellent Peep Show, is hitting the road with his new book, Thinking About It Only Makes It Worse.

The comedian, actor and author studied history at Peterhouse, Cambridge, where he joined Footlights, and eventually became club president. Mitchell admits his enthusiasm for Footlights meant he spent more time in the theatre than in lecture halls – and when he met fellow student Robert Webb, the two became fast friends as well as comedy partners.

The comedy circuit, a grimy London flat, and finally the cult success Peep Show followed, as well as the pair's sketch show That Mitchell and Webb Sound on Radio 4, later being made for TV as That Mitchell and Webb Look.

Aside from his TV commitments, Mitchell also contributes opinion pieces to the national press, which is where his visit to Ely as part of the News-backed Ely Literary Festival comes in. His Guardian and Observer columns have been transformed into a solid book of the comic's musings in Thinking About It Only Makes It Worse.

While Mitchell might shrug off the academic side of his time at Cambridge, the new book shows clear signs of a historian's touch. "I suppose I tend to see things as part of a broader historical direction of travel," says Mitchell. "Most of the sort of things I try and write jokes about, whether it's sketches or on panel shows, they tend to be about things now that you think are absurd, or dangerous, or laughable, the kind of direction that things are going in."

Thinking About It Only Makes It Worse follows Mitchell's popular Soap Box series, where he voiced his qualms about global warming, Richard

III, Downton Abbey and the like. This time round, as Mitchell takes his readers on a literary tour of the absurdities of modern life, his targets include Ryanair, sports day, UKIP . . . oh, and hotdogs made of cats.

"There's the issue of if the planet is going to remain habitable," he sighs, before reeling off a list of modern day dilemmas. "But then," he says, "how much does thinking about this help?"

The trials of everyday British life and government gripe the comedian, but that doesn't mean he'd prefer to be anywhere else. In fact, as he writes: "Some of us are fundamentally dissatisfied. If you move abroad to address that, you risk shattering the comforting illusion that you'd be happy if only you lived somewhere sunny."

And so, when we ask him if there was a place or a time period he would prefer to live in, it isn't a decision he comes to easily. "You've got to think about comfort and medicine," the perennially sensible Mitchell advises. "I'd love to visit almost every time period for a quick 20 minutes, but then I'd have an antibiotic jab."

Given a 20-minute visitation allowance, suddenly he's spoilt for choice. "I'd go everywhere – ancient Rome, ancient Greece, medieval times, the Holy Roman Empire, lots of places."

And a time period in which he'd actually settle down? It's slim pickings. Aside from ready access to antibiotics, he requires "not too much fighting in the streets." Time machines aside, modern-day Mitchell is happily settled in London's Belsize Park with his journalist and celebrity poker star wife, Victoria Coren Mitchell.

With two books, a feature film and a menagerie of TV shows behind him, he's still busy writing his columns. It's clear that an ever-exasperated

Mitchell still has questions to ask: but does he need the answers? If so, he won't look to the comments sections of his online pieces for support – he prefers to leave the trolls alone. "Somehow a jibe has more rhetorical impact than a compliment. Human nature is such that even if there are nice things as well you sort of need to see nice things at a greater rate than none to come out psychologically even," he says, drily.

After all, Mitchell doesn't view his opinions as particularly extreme. "On good days, I reckon I come across as pretty reasonable."

■ Ely Literary Festival is sadly drawing to a close for this year, dear bookworms.

Fortunately they've decided to end on a massive high with not only comedian David Mitchell, but also celebrity chef Yotam Ottolenghi

Cookery demonstration with Yotam Ottolenghi, November 24, Ely Cathedral

If you haven't stumbled across Israeli-born Ottolenghi before, what's wrong with you?

The Jerusalem writer, presenter, chef and owner of London delis and restaurants, manages to fit in perfectly-worded recipe ideas for the Guardian and verbal sparring with Nigella on the telly, as well as books – which are all beautiful.

So, start salivating over his new release, Plenty More, and quiz him on everything food-related.

He'll be chatting following a screening of him cooking – don't turn up without having eaten dinner. Sadly, Ottolenghi won't be getting his chef whites on the night. Boo.

Tickets available from (01353) 645005 / toppingbooks.co.uk.

Berlin Philharmonic String Quintet

Berlin Philharmonic String Quintet,
Jesus College Chapel, Cambridge,
Thursday, November 20, at 8pm.
Tickets £18-£25 from cammusic.co.uk.

THE 12th century Jesus College Chapel will be ignited with the sensual rhythms of tango and the delicacy of a Mozart Divertimento thanks to the astonishing playing of five string musicians from one of the best orchestras in the world – the Berlin Philharmonic.

The concert is one of a dozen in this year's News-backed Cambridge Music Festival.

"The Berlin Philharmonic Strings are like a Rolls Royce," says Justin Lee, director of Cambridge Music Festival. "The most powerful thing – don't miss it!"

What promises to be a breathtaking evening in a stunning setting also includes Dvorak's String Quintet and culminates in two high-energy, virtuoso pieces by Bottesini and Bassini.

Cambridge Music Festival is also putting on free lunchtime concerts including "Delicate web of sound" Fitkinwall at the Mumford Theatre, on Friday, November 21, at 1.10pm.

Cambridge Music Festival runs until November 22. Find out more at cammusic.co.uk

This keyboards and harp duo play a "glimmering veil of music that builds to a tingling climax" (The Independent).

Ruth Wall and Graham Fitkin play two harps, Moog synthesiser, red box and autoharp in this new work, Lost, which they composed originally for the aerial theatre company Ockham's Razor (coming to Cambridge Corn Exchange in December – read all about it at cambridge-news.co.uk/whatson). This is an expanded 50-minute work for the concert.

UNMISSABLE: The Berlin Philharmonic String Quintet; inset, Fitkinwall

Bare in mind our busy bee

FOR some time, environmentalists and horticulturists have been urging gardeners to let their grass grow a bit longer, leave at least one area of their garden 'wild' and create nooks and crannies in the form of log piles to allow wildlife to flourish.

Now, with the recent launch of the government's Bee and Pollinator Strategy, a 10-year plan announced by Environment Secretary Elizabeth Truss, we can do more to encourage a "flower-rich habitat" to provide more homes for wild honey bees, bumblebees, butterflies and other pollinators.

Scientists warn that British bees are in serious decline with 71 of our wild bee species under threat and more than 20 already extinct. Loss of habitat and forage are the main problems facing wild bees.

The strategy is supported by the government's Call to Action – Bees' Needs: Food and a Home, launched earlier this year on www.beesneeds.org.uk, which offers a wealth of tips on how to help these valuable creatures flourish in our gardens.

Guidelines include:

■ Grow more flowers, shrubs and

by Hannah Stephenson

trees that provide nectar and pollen as food for bees and other pollinators throughout the year.

■ Leave patches of land to grow wild with plants like stinging nettles and dandelions to provide other food sources (such as leaves for caterpillars) and breeding places for butterflies and moths.

■ Cut grass less often and ideally remove the cuttings to allow plants to flower.

■ Avoid disturbing or destroying nesting or hibernating insects in places like grass margins, bare soil, hedgerows, trees, dead wood or walls.

■ Think carefully about whether to use pesticides, especially where pollinators are active or nesting or where plants are in flower.

People should understand that the beauty of a flower has nothing to do with its nectar content. Modern plant breeding has tended to value showy flowers more highly than the welfare of the insect world, so the latest double begonia or frilly carnation probably won't attract pollinators.

Double flower varieties have extra petals but produce less pollen and nectar. For example, a study comparing four varieties of dahlia found that the double 'pompom' and 'semi-cactus' varieties were less attractive than open-flowered varieties.

Many good nectar plants have inconspicuous flowers and often old-fashioned ones are the best, but that doesn't mean they have to be boring. Foxgloves, hellebores, wallflowers, red valerian, ice plant and Verbena bonariensis all produce loads of nectar, as do many winter-flowering heathers.

It's also important to provide good nectar sources for as much of the year as you can.

Social species like bumble bees need food for the queen bees in spring when they are founding the nest, throughout the summer for the workers to rear the young, and finally at the end of the season for the young queens to build up fat stores before hibernating for the winter.

Late-flowering, nectar-rich plants include dahlia, fuchsia (single varieties), Michaelmas daisies, marigolds, lavender and knapweeds. Ivy is a good autumn source of nectar for a range of species including honey bees, ivy bees and hoverflies, and is the larval food plant of the holly blue butterfly.

Herbs including chives, borage, hyssop, rosemary, sage, thyme and fennel are also rich in nectar, while less common perennials including Calamintha nepeta, Veronica and Liatris spicata will also attract bees and other pollinators.

Don't forget moths, which tend to be night-feeding – so include fragrant honeysuckle, jasmine, evening primrose and night-scented stock in your planting scheme.

Volkswagen backs sustainable ideal

TODAY, the hunt for every gram of CO₂, every drop of fuel, every kilowatt of power that can be saved is one of the key challenges faced by the automotive industry.

The objective is to drive into the future more sustainably than ever. Volkswagen AG has set the goal of becoming the world's most sustainable carmaker by 2018. Compared to baseline figures for 2010, the Group wants to reduce energy and water consumption, waste generation and emissions (including CO₂ emissions) by 25 per cent in all of its business areas.

It is applying all of its innovative car-making know-how to achieve this sustainability gain within the four years remaining until 2018, including:

Mild hybrid – shuts off the TSI/TDI when it is not being used.

Stop-start 2.0 – engine shuts off at speeds under 7km/h.

2.0 TDI with 240PS – bi-turbo Passat consumes 5.3 l/100 km.

2.0 TDI with 272PS – bi-turbo plus electric booster.

10-speed DSG – new automatic for engines with up to 550 Nm of torque.

Lightweight design with lightweight panels – sandwich construction from motorsport.

Infrared-reflecting dashboard – pigments that reject heat.

Low-E glass sunroof – oxide film blocks infrared radiation.

Range manager – maximum range in Auto mode.

Air conditioning in electric cars – need-based and extremely efficient.

Volkswagen Car-Net – brings online services into the car.

"Security & Service" – always informed about vehicle status.

App Connect – welcome to "Apple CarPlay" and "Android Auto".

Volkswagen Media Control – tablet control via app in the car.

Predictive navigation – the first navigation system that "learns".

Personalisation – individual settings at all times.

Easy Open – open sesame 2.0.

Easy Close – the Passat Estate now closes automatically.

Other areas it has targets for include: CO₂ REDUCTION: In its products,

Volkswagen is counting on electric mobility (zero-emission and plug-in hybrid models), on continually more fuel-efficient combustion engines and gearboxes, progressive lightweight design, pioneering aerodynamics and efficiency in every conceivable area. Techno-logies for reducing fuel consumption and CO₂ emissions include

VOLKSWAGEN:
Ongoing innovation

the world's first 10-speed dual-clutch gearbox (DSG).

NETWORKING: Along with the drive systems, automotive infotainment systems are also changing faster than ever, because the vehicle and the internet are growing and merging together. Volkswagen is presenting the latest apps for networking the vehicle with the online world and other interactive convenience systems – including the first self-learning navigation system.

THINK BLUE. ENGINEERING: The great potential of the Volkswagen sustainability strategy "Think Blue. Engineering" is reflected in the latest innovations with which the company is further reducing fuel consumption and CO₂ emissions. Volkswagen has set the goal of reducing waste materials, emissions, water usage and CO₂ emissions by 25 per cent (compared to 2010 figures) by 2018.

MILD HYBRID – STOP-START 2.0 AND COASTING WITH ENGINE OFF: The start-stop 2.0 system does not just deactivate the engine when the car is stationary at a red light; rather it already deactivates the engine at speeds below 7km/h. In coasting with engine off (special coasting function), the engine is also shut off at higher speeds as soon as the driver releases the accelerator pedal.

HIGH-PERFORMANCE ENGINES: New high-tech engines such as the 240 PS bi-turbo diesel of the new Passat also make saving a pleasure. With a power density of 120PS per litre displacement, it is the most powerful of any four-cylinder TDI ever been put into production. The fuel consumption of the saloon – top speed of 149mph – is a low 53.3mpg.

Aston Martin's line-up even more awesome!

LANCASTER Cambridge Aston Martin laid on some special hospitality to announce three major new developments for the marque, writes Adam Swift.

The first new offering is the new V8 Vantage N430, which offers better value for money and a keener driving experience. It features several nifty paint options, Nürburgring-honed suspension, and the 430bhp engine from the Vantage S, which costs £6,000 more, so you'll only need to stump up £89,995!

The Vanquish and Rapide S models have had revisions including a highly-rated eight-speed automatic gearbox developed with transmission connoisseurs ZF, allied to the latest Bosch engine management system.

The new system improves every major area of performance and fuel economy, with the 0-60mph time in the Vanquish dropping from 4.1 to 3.6 seconds, making it the fastest accelerating production car ever to roll off the Gaydon factory floor. The Rapide S manages the sprint in a sprightly 4.2 seconds, down from 4.7 seconds.

Changes to gear and final drive ratios means the cars are not only quicker but also more frugal, with reduced emissions, while economy is boosted by 11 per cent. Thanks to a revised final drive ratio, both models are also now in proper supercar territory, capable of topping 200mph.

Lastly but by no means least is the Design Prototype 100.

Powered by a monstrous 800bhp

twin-turbocharged V12, it was conceived exclusively for Playstation's Gran Turismo 6.

And it is an Aston Martin like no other. The Aston Martin design team spent six months on the project, using traditional hand sketches and 3D modelling. Many of the design cues seen on the Prototype 100, such as the 'light-blade' rear lamps, could be seen on future Astons in the real world.

CUTE: The Skoda Fabia

Skoda Fabia gets a 'no VAT' price point

SKODA is offering Fabia buyers the chance to pick up a car at a lower price thanks to the introduction of a new 'No VAT' offer.

With the third-generation model set to arrive early next year, Skoda is celebrating the success of the award-winning current model by offering customers the chance to snap one up with 20 per cent off the asking price.

While customers will still pay VAT on their purchase, the Czech firm is cutting the VAT amount from the original list price. The offer is available across the hatch and estate ranges (S 1.2 12V 60PS model excluded) and extends to the recently launched Black Edition models, along with the popular Monte Carlo models and flagship vRS.

With the 'No VAT' reductions applied, popular models such as the 1.6 TDI SE have an on-the-road price of £11,910 – a saving of £2,270.

Hepworth is triumphant in midweek medal

GRAHAM Hepworth had the edge over Jim Walker to claim the Haverhill men's midweek medal on countback.

Due to difficult ground conditions, the format was changed to a stableford competition.

Hepworth won on countback over the final three holes from Walker after both scored 37.

Walker also won Division One, Stuart Haworth won Division Two on countback and Hepworth took the Division Three honours.

The team of Michael Goldsmith, Tom Harrison, Paul Hinchcliffe and Don Simpson won Haverhill's Anniversary Shield with a score of 49.2.

The format was a Texas scramble, with teams of four playing off a one-tenth combined handicap.

Anthony Archer, Glen Hughes, and Matthew and Neil Farlie came second on 49.6, while Jack Plught, Paul Bartlett, Kim Ward and Andy Gage took third on countback with 51.

Strike force: Haverhill Rovers duo Brandon McKay (centre) and David Scott (right) in action against St Neots.

Comer and Fellow seal Wratting win

AIDEN Comer and Toby Fellow earned West Wratting under-15s a 2-0 victory at Cottenham United Red in Cambridge & District Colts League 15A.

Having reached the league cup semi-finals the previous week, Wratting looked to build on that and made a quick start against Cottenham.

The visitors took the lead after 15 minutes when Comer swung in a corner which evaded everyone and bounced into the goal.

Then in the 25th minute, they moved further ahead after Fellow rose to head home a free kick.

There were no more goals, but Wratting dealt with the threats posed by Cottenham to take a win and a clean sheet.

Brandon McKay and Shane Gambin grabbed two goals apiece as Haverhill Rovers under-15s saw off St Neots Town in 15C.

Jayden Byford got the other in what proved to be a comfortable 5-0 win.

Louie Bampton bagged a brace as Little Legends under-11s edged out The Eagles Ely 4-3 in Cambridgeshire Mini Soccer League 11D.

Charles Burrell and Connor Wiseman got the other goals for Little Legends.

> Football: Thurlow Nunn League

Cornwell doubles up to help Rovers take victory

DAN Cornwell struck twice to help Haverhill Rovers seal a 3-1 victory away to Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division basement boys Diss Town.

A fast-paced first half, with the ball skimming off the wet surface, saw Haverhill take the lead with a fine team move on the half hour.

A long kick by goalkeeper Jack Cherry found Dalton O'Brien, who picked the ball up on the left and laid it to Marc Abbott on the edge of the area.

He controlled the bouncing ball before touching it to his right towards Perry Moody, whose subtle diagonal pass found Cornwell and his shot on the turn under pressure rolled into the far bottom left corner.

The score was 2-0 to Rovers seven minutes later when Moody's controlled volley was pushed away by Powley and O'Brien raced to the rebound, side footing it past the defender going across goal to try to block his effort at the left hand post.

Diss were the better of the two sides at the start of the second half and got a goal back on 67 minutes.

Matthew Waters rode two challenges as he went from left to right across the edge of the penalty area, with his bullet of a shot leaving Cherry with no chance as it flew past the right hand post.

Seven nervous minutes into added time, Cornwell got his second and secured the win after he cut inside his marker left of goal before beating Powley at his near post with a long shot.

In the First Division, Haverhill Borough scored three unanswered goals in a frantic opening nine minutes to secure all three points against AFC Sudbury reserves.

They went ahead after just two-and-a-half minutes when Gavin Taylor confidently dispatched a penalty after Borough midfielder Harry O'Connor had been fouled in the penalty area.

Two minutes later, Ryan Kent outpaced the Sudbury defence and crossed for Ryan Weaver whose initial header was blocked, only for the rebound to fall to Lee Salmons who headed into an unguarded net.

Kent's pace created the third goal in the ninth minute, latching on to an inch-perfect through ball and finishing.

Borough goalkeeper Charlie Turner was forced to make some good saves and Errol Durrell also cleared off the goalline before half time.

The second half saw Sudbury dominate possession without being able to reduce the deficit.

Borough followed up the win with a 2-0 victory over Saffron Walden in the First Division Cup quarter-finals on Tuesday evening.

Weaver put them ahead on 53 minutes.

And skipper Ross Elkins sealed the win from the penalty spot soon after.
